WESTMINSTER CONCERTS AND FESTIVAL END THE 1938 CONFERENCE SEASON; OVER 6000 HERE ON FINAL SUNDAY

Over 6000 people attended the various services and Festival of Music of the Northfield conference season's close on last Sunday.

Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin of the Union Theological Seminary of New York City addressed the morning worship service in the Auditorium and in the evening Dr. James Reid of England delivered the final message. Dr. John Finley Williamson addressed the final meeting at Round Top.

The Festival of Sacred Music by over 500 singers, consisting of members of church choirs in this area, together with the members of the Westminster choir school, concluding their sessions at Mt. Hermon, presented a program as published in last week's Press, to an audience which completely filled the Auditorium, and through amplifiers reached hundreds gathered outside on the lawn and seated in automobiles round about. The singers were massed in the choir of the Auditorium with Dr. Williamson director and leader, in the box at the front.

The warm summery weather brought out one of the largest number of visitors to hear the rendition of the music.

Included in the program were selections from Palestrina, Bach, and Luther's well-known hymn, "Ein Feste Burg." Others were "O, Thou in Whose Presence," "Carol of the Bells," "Hosanna" by Christiansen, and "Praise the Name of the Lord" by Tche-repnin.

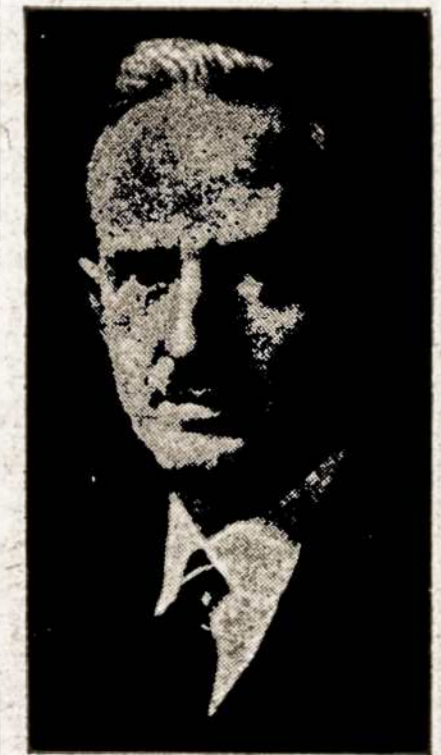

The National Broadcasting Co. had charge of the radio program for a half hour, which was heard from coast to coast, while WHAI and other valley stations, broadcast for the entire hour.

From as far south as Springfield and north to Keene, west to Pittsfield and east to Gardner, choristers had been rehearsing for six weeks under the direction of Marvin Reecher, to prepare for the festival. One of the purposes of this concert is to stimulate excellent choir singing and the use of the finest church music. Dr. Williamson is recognized as one of the most successful directors of church music, both in song and by instruments. The Westminster Choir college, Princeton, N. J., is famous throughout the western world for the excellence of its training. The concerts of Friday evening and Saturday evening in the Auditorium by the college vocal camp and the summer school were well attended, appreciated, and enjoyed.

All these concerts marked the high points of the General conference, which, with the splendid addresses delivered by the various speakers will mark the 1938 General conference as highly appreciated and decidedly beneficial.

One thing is certain, the people who come to Northfield should be given consideration in their desires which they possess in regard to the conferences established by Dwight L. Moody. They want the best of speakers in America and elsewhere, true representatives of the evangelistic spirit, they want the best in music, true to the old traditions and they want a part in an earnest song service in which they can participate. Above all they want a conference undenominational in character, without any emphasis of denominationalism, even to the appropriation of its collections. All monies received should go to the expenses of the conference and they ought to pay "the way" without creating any debt.

Dr. John Finley Williamson

The Seminary Auditorium where the Festival of Music was heard on Sunday by a capacity audience and from which place the program was broadcast.

Repaired Walks

The sidewalk on Main street, north and south of the center has been much improved with a layer of new asphalt gravel. The walk on Winchester road from the "birthplace" toward the Auditorium has also received a similar treatment. This marks a fine improvement and ought to afford sufficient reason to pedestrians to keep off the highways for their saunterings.

Many Go To Warwick

Warwick observed its old home day Wednesday. It was the 44th annual reunion of old residents and many gathered from far and near to renew acquaintances and visit the ancestral homes. Quite a number from Northfield were in attendance.

Sports were held in the morning for children. Mrs. Belle Conant Marden of Orange rendered an organ recital at 1:45 followed by an address by Rev. W. W. Argow of Syracuse, N. Y. and vocal selections by Dr. and Mrs. Howard Curtis of Moorestown, N. J. A baseball game was played in the late afternoon. Music for the day and evening was by Goodnow's orchestra. The reunion ball was held in the evening.

William Slate of the local A & P store was in charge of the Millers Falls store last week-end owing to death in the family of the manager.

Wanamaker Road To Have Consideration At Hearing Tuesday

The department of public works has called a hearing at their offices in Boston, 100 Nashua street, for next Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock, in regard to the lay-out and improving of the Wanamaker road from Route 10 to the finished portion of the new New Hampshire Winchester highway. It is hoped that as many as possible will arrange to attend the hearing and that the Selectmen will be represented. The New Hampshire portion was finished late in the summer of 1936 and opened for travel and since that time Massachusetts has neglected to care for its portion of the through highway.

Traffic over Wanamaker and by way of the Winchester road has poured into the new highway, but both arteries are inadequate to safely care for the passage of automobiles over them, to the extent to which they are now used.

Several mishaps have occurred this summer on the Wanamaker road where motorists arrive abruptly from the hard-surfaced Winchester road. Cars have swerved in the sand and dirt, and one turned over, injuring passengers and damaging the machine.

The cut-off received first attention in 1934 when it met general approval at a conference in Newport, N. H.

In November, 1935, a total of $75,000 was allotted through the WPA for preliminary construction over Manning hill. Construction of the highway was begun April 15, 1936 after the New Haven Road Construction Co. offered a low bid of $92,676.15. By June much of the way from the Northfield line over the mountain had been cleared and late in the autumn the highway was surfaced. Construction on the north end, near the village of Winchester, was completed last spring.

The section now under consideration was surveyed when the cut-off was constructed, but other Massachusetts highways received priority. The distance covered is about two-thirds of a mile.

Pre-Fair Ticket Sale

The Franklin county Agricultural society held a pre-fair ticket sale dinner at Hitchcock hall, Deerfield academy, Thursday evening through the courtesy of Frank L. Boyden, headmaster of the academy. Representatives were present from nearly all the towns in the county and committees were formed to direct the sale of the tickets which would give the assurance of success to Franklin county's fair.

The Greenfield band attended and gave a concert on the lawn previous to the dinner. Edward E. Rankin is chairman of the ticket sale. A. L. Lombard, secretary of the State Agricultural commission was the speaker. The Northfield committee will soon canvass on the tickets here.

Allotment $1600

If the Governor and the Legislature can get together on the matter of the $5,000,000 highway fund to be spent for relief on the roads, the allotment which would come to Northfield would be $1600. The selectmen here have been notified and every town is awaiting some definite word from Boston. Other nearby towns would receive the following amounts: Barnardston, $750; Erving, $1650; Gill, $750; Warwick, $300; Greenfield, $21,000.

Builds Summer Home

Rev. and Mrs. Carl R. Key of Holland, Va., are enthusiastic over Northfield, its conferences and its people. They have begun the construction of a summer home in the Highlands sector off Winchester road, and expect it will be ready for occupancy by next season. Mrs. Key's parents are the Rev. and Mrs. Loring Chase and she has spent many seasons here at their summer cottage. The summer colony will welcome them as permanent members.

A Birthday Surprise

A large group of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Watson on Warwick avenue, Tuesday evening, to extend to Mr. Watson best wishes and greetings on the 75th anniversary of his birth. The evening was spent in social enjoyment and refreshments were served. All had a good time

An Associate Rector For St. James Parish Begins Work Sept. 15

Rev. T. Frederick Cooper, for the past seven years rector of St. Phillips Episcopal church at Easthampton, will be associated with the Rev. John B. Whiteman, rector of St. James Episcopal church in Greenfield, beginning Sept. 15.

Mr. Cooper will probably be given direct charge of the work in Turners Falls and Millers Falls, and with Mr. Whiteman oversee the work of the parish, in which Northfield, with its 52 adherents, are included. Mr. Cooper is married and has three children and will live in the rectory on Federal street. Mr. Whiteman is occupying his new home on the Bernardston road.

A native of Boston, Mr. Cooper received his elementary education in the schools there. He received his B. A. degree from Greenville, Ill., college, was graduated from Philadelphia Divinity school with honors and has done post-graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania.

His first parish was at Carnegie, Pa., where he built a new stone church and his second at Easthampton, where he has been for the past seven years. He is well acquainted with many of the members of St. James parish as he has substituted for Mr. Whiteman the past two summers at the vacation period.

G. O. P. Pow-Wow Next Thursday Evening Many Will Attend

The big "county night" of the Republicans of Franklin county is scheduled to be held next Thursday evening, Aug. 25 at the Mansion House in Greenfield.

The affair will start off with a dinner at 6:30, which any are privileged to attend, provided tickets have been secured and reservations made. Both men and women will attend and the Young Men's Republican club and the Women's Republican club of the county are cooperating. It is expected that several Republican men and women of Northfield will be in attendance. After the dinner, an open meeting will follow, to which everybody is cordially invited. It is expected that nearly all Republicans, who are candidates for office in the county will be present to be introduced and heard from.

Local Republicans who desire dinner tickets should notify George W. Carr, chairman of the local Republican committee or Mrs. Ross L. Spencer, representative of the Women's Republican club.

The general committee for county night includes Francis H. Streeter, toastmaster; Albert R. Jenest, sub-chairman; John B. Touher, treasurer; Erwin G. Hoelle, ticket chairman; E. Whitman Strecker, reception committee; Leland J. Stiles, banquet; Clark G. McKinnon, publicity; Don E. White, music; Albert R. Jenest, radio; and Clifford, program.

The ticket committee has been organized and includes Raymond J. Nadeau, William F. Galvin, Clarence S. Strecker, Albert E. Jenest, Leland J. Stiles, and James A. Ballou.

The regular Sunday program will be resumed next Sunday at the Congregational church. Sunday school at 10; at 11, regular preaching service with special anthems by the choir; 7:00, the Senior Endeavor with Miss Harlene Carne, leader; 8:00, preaching service. Sunday school at the Farms at 2:30 each Sunday.

The former barn at the cottage of the Gunn family in the Highlands is being rebuilt into a garage.

The book containing the various addresses delivered at the General conference for which a large subscription has been taken, will be ready for distribution the first of next week. Get your copy by application upon Frank W. Pearsall, Music hall, East Northfield.

Women in Northfield, who desire to unite in the membership of the Fortnightly club should send in their application as soon as possible to Mrs. L. P. Goodspeed, president, or to Mrs. Geo. H. Foster, secretary.

Rev. D. O. Cowles and family of East Orange, N. J., are occupying their cottage, "Fernwald" on the Ridge for the month of August.

The Employed Staff Summer Conferences Farewell With Dance

The high-water mark of the social season for the 1938 summer conference employees, those at Mt. Hermon school, and the Northfield hotel was the social and dance last Monday evening at the Chateau. The record-breaking heat of the day put no damper on the ardor of the 200 who came early and flocked until after midnight to the strains of Dick Mott's six-piece orchestra.

Laughter and music, moonlight and roses, multi-colored balloons and bright lights, talking and dancing made the time pass all too swiftly. Beautiful designs made of leaves and flowers transformed the rooms into veritable gardens. Perhaps the tap dancing of the Alabama Negro and the swing music of the modern orchestra were in strange contrast to the formalism which the Chateau is supposed to represent. Yet all was harmony, except, perhaps, the sad parting at the close, and the too abrupt and speechless departure next morning.

The evening brought to a close two months of hard work as well as play for the 150 members who have assisted in various jobs at the summer conferences. The careful planning on the part of the executive and administrative committees of the conferences bore its reward in the thoughtful and efficient service rendered the guests by the employees. The comradeship developed by many while at school was continued this summer at work. The esprit de corps of helpful service cheerfully done maintains the high standard set by the Northfield schools.

The following persons were members of the staff at this year's summer conferences, from this town and vicinity:

Buys Foreman Place

Luman A. Barber, who owns and operates the local I. G. A. store has purchased the property of Mrs. Jennie Foreman on Main street opposite the Dickinson library.

The property occupied by Mrs. Foreman for many years during the summer period consists of a large dwelling, with barns and four and a half acres of land. Mr. Barber, who now resides in Bernardston, will make extensive improvements and occupy for a home.

George McMillan, former purchasing agent for the Northfield schools has been the guest of Prof. and Mrs. Gage at their home on Winchester road during the past week.

The members of the old school district No. 9 will hold their annual gathering and picnic in the usual manner at the home of Henry Lyman on Maple street, next Thursday, Aug. 25.

Dr. J. L. Peacock of Tarboro, N. C., is spending August at his summer home on Glen road.

Dr. C. C. Woodruff, president of the Rustic Ridge association, and Mrs. Woodruff are at their cottage for the month of August.

Miss Margaret Haslam of Hanover, N. J., and Mrs. John M. Spoor of Kingston, N. Y., were guests of Miss Ethel Lawrence at her home on Myrtle street, last week.

Mrs. Rose Brown of Brooklyn, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. William J. McRoberts at her home here. She also has as her guest Ernest Skoldberg of Bay Ridge. Her son, Frank McRoberts and family also of Brooklyn made a visit with her, while they were on a motor tour during the past week.

The Bookroom in the Auditorium has closed for the season after a very satisfactory experience. The unsold stock has been removed to the Bookstore.

The Salvation Army Closes Its Camp Here; Season Was Successful

The Louise Andrews Salvation Army camp, off the Pierson road closed its camp on Wednesday. It marked the end of its first season and last Sunday, received a visit from Provincial Commander, Lt.-Col. Donald McMillan of Boston. Also present was Adj. Horace Weatherly, superintendent of young people's work in the Army.

The group at the camp for the past few weeks were all young people gathered in a Christian leaders' training institute and they were largely from the Portland, Me., area.

The first part of the season some seventy young boys were enjoying camp life and experience in charge of Army officers. Major Albert Morrill of the Portland Northeastern area has been in charge of the camp and it is expected that he will return next year, when sometime during the summer, the people of Northfield will be given an opportunity of visiting the camp.

Local interest attaches to the visit of Adj. Weatherly, who is now in charge of young people's work attached to the headquarters at Boston, as it was he who had charge of the local Salvation Army campaign for funds a year ago. Last week the strains of an 18-piece band was heard at the camp by residents in that district and the selections were much enjoyed.

Mount Hermon Has Sunday Wedding

The wedding of Miss Esther Porter, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. David R. Porter of Mt. Hermon, to J. Francis Power of Seattle, Wash., took place at Mt. Hermon at the Headmaster's house last Sunday at noon. It was an informal wedding party with only the family in attendance.

Dr. George Irving of Philadelphia, secretary of the board of education of the Presbyterian church, performed the singlering ceremony. The bride's father, who is headmaster of Mt. Hermon school, gave the bride away. Miss Jean Porter of Washington, D. C., a sister of the bride was bridesmaid and the only attendant.

The bride wore an informal white dress and carried white orchids. Her going-away suit was bright blue. The bridesmaid wore turquoise blue and carried yellow roses. Mrs. Porter wore aquamarine and a hat of the same color, and carried pink roses.

A reception and wedding luncheon followed the wedding ceremony on the lawn. A number of friends at the school attended the reception. Music was played by Mrs. Lester Powley of Hinkleley, Maine.

Miss Porter is a graduate of Vassar college, and has just returned from the Pacific coast, where she has been engaged in dramatic education, and has been working for a graduate degree at the University of Montana. Her work at this university begun in 1935, was interrupted by a period of study in Europe, chiefly in the Soviet Union. She is the granddaughter of Dr. G. W. Hinckley, founder and president of the Good Will association of Hinkleley, Me. Mrs. Power will become director of the dramatic department at Vassar college this fall.

Mr. Power has for three years been connected with the Federal Theatre project of Seattle, Wash.

That Donkey Ball Game Attracted Many Folks

The game of donkey baseball played on the baseball diamond at the Northfield hotel Tuesday evening attracted a large audience who thoroughly enjoyed every minute of the game, particularly the antics of the donkeys, who did everything except what was expected of them. The picked team won over the regular town baseball team by the score of 6-4, but that wasn't of much concern. The fact remains that our boys knew nothing about handling a donkey. They lacked the western knowledge of the plains, and allowed the little burros to sit on them, kick them, and quite often act contrary. The game was a bit, the crowd got their money's worth, the bowling was tremendous. Everybody had a laugh. The game netted the Athletic association nearly $60.

It Is "Pierson Road"

Recently it has been noted that the word "Pierson" has been spelled as "Pearson", in describing the location of the highway, known for years as Pierson road, running from Winchester road to the so-called Wanamaker Pond road, which by the way is, and should be known by its correct name of former years as High street.

Pierson road was named by the town in honor of Dr. Arthur T. Pierson, who gave much of the land for the road, and who was a property owner of many acres thereon. His son, Delevan L. Pierson owned for over twenty years much of the land, now incorporated in the camp of the Louise Andrews Salvation Army camp.

In all fairness, let it be known and so written, that Pierson road is Pierson road, and not known by any other name or spelling. Dr. Pierson was for many years associated with the late D. L. Moody and was a speaker and leader at the summer conferences in the early period.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Easter and family of Washington, D. C. who have occupied a summer cottage here on Myrtle street, during the sessions of the Westminster choir school, returned to their home on Monday.

LOCALS

Sunset Farm, at Northfield Farms, with Mrs. Charles E. Leach as hostess is proving very popular, with friends added each week. The atmosphere is that of "home" and guests are made to feel welcome and to enjoy themselves during their stay. There is plenty to eat at the appetizing meals, and after dinner guests may enjoy the beautiful scenic out-of-doors. Dinner parties are frequent.

The annual meeting of the Mt. Hermon Alumni association is announced, to be held Saturday, Oct. 15 at 2 p. m. at Camp hall on Hermon campus. Plans are being made for a large gathering.

Miss Katherine M. Lawler of Greenfield has been selected to become home demonstration agent of the Franklin County Extension service on Sept. 1. She succeeds Miss Evelyn Mills who recently resigned to return to her home at Ellsworth, Me., owing to illness in the family.

Much local interest prevails in the dedication and opening of the new Turners Falls-Gill bridge which has been set for Saturday, Sept. 10. It is expected that state and county officials will attend.

Four weeks more will find the students here again at both the Seminary and Mt. Hermon school. There is a full enrollment with a long waiting list.

The ringing of the chimes on Sage chapel during the conference season has been much appreciated by the summer guests. The playing of hymns will leave a pleasant memory to many. The effective tones were brought out by Mr. Pearson who presided at the ropes.

The rolling youth hostel group led by Karl Kaufhold of this town, are in the country of the Grand Canyon and Sante Fe, New Mexico, this week.

The street department has a crew of men cutting the grass and weeds along the sides of the many town roads.

Wanamaker pond has been a favorite resort these hot days and hundreds of swimmers and bathers have crowded the waters. In addition there has been the usual large number of visitors watching the sport.

The July rainfall is being reported everywhere as being the greatest for many years. The ground is thoroughly saturated and brooks that usually run dry in August have had plenty of water running in them this season.

The hot weather is no new story. Aside from reading about it, we have suffered it here. Northfield has had its heat wave. It was a corker while it lasted.

"Love Finds Andy Hardy" is the unfolding of a drama which is to be found in every American family. It will be shown at the Auditorium Friday through Monday and Manager Latchis of Brattleboro says "it's a fine picture."

Mabel L. Bonney, Florence Violet Snell, executors of the will of the late Alice L. Woodbury have transferred to the Northfield Schools, Inc., 13 acres of land in Northfield on the west side of Strowbridge hill, according to a record at the registry.

The WCTU will hold a food sale on the lawn at the House of Colton on Saturday at 2:30.

The performance of the Boston Symphony orchestra at Southbridge Sunday attracted a record audience of nearly 8000 people. Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Wright and their daughter, Mrs. Lawrence White, whose husband is a member of the orchestra.

Services at the Unitarian church will begin the first Sunday after Labor Day with Rev. Mary Andrews Conner, pastor.

An examination for armament machinist at $1680 per year is announced by the U. S. Civil Service commission. If you are interested write to the Civil Service, Post Office Bldg., Boston, or confer with the local board at the post office at East Northfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Holton of Highland avenue have returned from a vacation period spent at Ocean Beach, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Duncan spent last week on a motor tour and visit to Lake Placid, including the climb up Whiteface Mountain. They also entertained at their summer home here, their son, Robert M. Duncan and wife, of Kew Gardens, N. Y., and their daughter, Miss Carol Duncan of Jamaica, N. Y., and her friend, Miss Kathleen Clair of Palisade, N. J. over last week-end.

A. M. Solandt of Ashuelot road is on a motor trip to Niagara Falls and Toronto, accompanied by his nephew. He will visit his sister whom he has not seen for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Polhemus are entertaining Miss Ruth Anderson of Ridgewood, N. J., at their home, and invited a few friends on Wednesday afternoon to meet her. Her engagement to their son Douglas was announced recently.

Mrs. A. H. Wright entertained this week at her home, the Misses Grace and Gladys Waterbury of East Dover, Vt., and Mrs. George Streeter of Wilmington, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Durgin and family are on a motor trip to the White Mountains and Lake George.

Miss Hazel Purrington and her mother of Hartford, Ct., have rented the apartment in Mrs. Bessie Symond's house on Highland avenue. Miss Purrington is to be the matron at the Henry Moore cottage when school re-opens.

Miss Lillian Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Alexander, is on a sixteen-day cruise, stopping at Havana, Leeward Islands and Guatemala. She expects to return to Boston about Aug. 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Peacock, who are now located at State College, Pa., are spending several weeks in town at the home of his father, Dr. J. L. Peacock.

Albert E. Roberts, executive secretary of the Northfield schools, is spending the week in New York City and Boston on business matters.

Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Pond and Miss Zeta Barlow of Beverly Farms are occupying the house of Mrs. Maude Vooris in Mountain Park.

John Dale of Brattleboro, and the Misses Mary and Anna Dale, with their niece, Miss Margaret Broughton of Westfield, are again occupying Irene cottage at Hampton Beach.

George McEwan and family of Maine leave this week for a two weeks' vacation rest at Hyannis on Cape Cod.

The many friends of Miss Eva Freeman were pleased to greet her this week upon her return from many months spent abroad in England and in Paris. She will return to her teaching at the Seminary when school re-opens.

Mrs. Chas. Zabriskie of Norwich, Ct., and her young daughter, with Miss Alice Zabriskie of New York City, greeted friends in town on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Both will be well remembered because of their past connection with the summer work at the Seminary, where Miss Zabriskie was in charge of personnel for a number of years.

When Dr. John Finley Williamson left Northfield last Monday after the close of the summer school, he departed for a vacation and rest in the wilds of Canada where he expected to put in a week of fishing, before returning to Princeton.

Rev. and Mrs. W. Stanley Carne and family are enjoying a short vacation with friends and relatives "down in Maine."

Kenneth D. Johnson Republican Candidate For Lieut. Governor

Kenneth D. Johnson of Quincy is a Republican candidate for the position of Lieut. Governor at the coming primaries. He was born in Quincy in 1898, the son of Swedish immigrant parents. Graduating from the schools and high school of that city, he entered Brown University, but when war was declared, joined the 103rd Field Artillery, Yankee Division, and saw service in France, being decorated for bravery in action at Chateau Thierry. After the war he re-entered Brown and then went to the Harvard Law school. From

Kenneth D. Johnson

Brown he received his A. B. degree and at Harvard his LL. B. Following his profession of law, he opened an office in Boston. He has served as a selectman of Milton, his home town, on several commissions, and has been active in the Republican organizations of the state.

For many years he has served as the Justice of the District Court of East Norfolk at Quincy and active in its various special efforts regarding juveniles and domestic relations.

Mr. Johnson is married and resides at Milton. Mrs. Johnson is president of the Women's Republican club. They have two children.

Mr. Johnson is experienced in dealing with the changing social, economic and industrial problems and his friends say that he would ably fill the position of Lieut. Governor. To those voters who want a progressive official, he is commended. Recently Mr. Haigis, who was the candidate for Governor at the last state election, gave Mr. Johnson a most valued endorsement.

The Back Yard Gardener

Good morning neighbor. Did you ever hear of a pink delphinium? No? Well, me too. I never even heard of one until recently at the State College Farm and Home week. A man by the name of Allen from Cornell University was recommending some worthwhile herbaceous plants for the home garden.

He told about the delphinium variety pink sensation. If I got it straight, this is of Dutch origin and will be available about next year for general sale. Of course, he recommended other improved varieties of delphiniums. In case you are interested in them, you sow the seeds in early fall in a cold frame for planting out next spring.

Well, he mentioned forty-seven different plants, but I'm just mentioning a few that struck my fancy. The perennial Double White Rock Cress for the rock garden was one.

A mighty nice shrub he mentioned was Buddleia Davidi or what we commonly speak of as the butterfly bush, and I certainly agree with him heartily on that one. The variety which I was particularly pleased to hear him mention was Fortune which is a light violet color. If you don't want to buy new plants, you can make cuttings in early fall and keep them in a cool house during the winter.

Another was the old maltese cross, Lychnis Chalcidonica, the particular variety being Arkwrightii. With this you sow the seeds indoors early in the spring.

With so many phlox blooming during the latter part of July, he couldn't help but mention them. One variety he said which was especially good but not widely used for some unknown reason was Mrs. Warren Harding. Others of special note are Columbia, Daily Sketch, and Progress. You can make cuttings of these in early fall or root division either in the fall or the spring.

Then he mentioned that very interesting plant which you and I know as balloon flower, but which the botanists speak of as Platycodon Grandiflora. And he mentioned particularly the variety Mariessi which is a dwarf upright type. These are easily grown from seeds sown in early spring or you can propagate at that time by division of the roots.

And then one other that I agreed with him on was veronica or as we speak of it speedwell. Longifolia Subsessilis is the particular variety which has deep blue flowers and blooms over a long period in moderate shade. You can grow these from seeds or by division.

Well, I guess that will give you a few suggestions for plants to put into your garden next year—that is, provided you are not already growing them.

"Never too old to learn" is one adage that can certainly be applied to back yard gardening. Almost every day I come across an idea that is new to me. Of course that's one of the joys that you get out of gardening.

The other day in one of my travels I noticed a stick tied to the top of a young evergreen. In spite of the fact that curiosity killed a cat, I had to stop and inquire into the situation. I was too embarrassed to ask the man's name, but anyway he told me that accidents happen with plants the same as they do with people, and he was simply putting a doctor's splint on his young evergreen.

He said that something had happened to the leader and so he took one of the vigorous lateral branches at the base of the original leader and tied it as nearly as possible into an upright position with the aid of the stick. In this way, he was simply forming a new leader for his tree. Sometimes new leaders will develop of their own accord, but it usually takes two or three years, while with this method you can get one in a year's time. Now for an observation on lawn that I have noted for some time. This was brought to my attention by the hot moist spell we have been having. A little bit of clover added to a lawn mixture makes for a much greener lawn. It isn't quite so velvety a lawn as some of the regular lawn grasses, but I noticed that where my lawn has plenty of clover it's nice and green. Where it doesn't it's pretty patchy—brown in spots and green in others. Add a little white clover to your lawn next time you sow any seed.

Another thing. Since we have been having so much rain I saw an item to the effect that on one-quarter acre of garden an inch of rainfall measures in the neighborhood of 7,000 gallons, which makes you realize how futile the watering is that we sometimes do thinking that we are helping the flowers or grass. In other words, if you can't put on enough to give the equivalent of a good rain, the chances are you might as well leave the hose reeled up.

Field-Day At Winchester

An all-day program starting at 9:30 in the morning is announced by the Federated church in sponsoring its first annual field day to be held on Saturday, Aug. 20.

Two prize winning teams of Clyde Struthers and Frank Goodridge will compete at 9:30, followed by a junior vehicle parade at 11, for which prizes will be awarded. Lunch from 12 to 1 will provide an hour's respite from a full afternoon. From 1 to 2:30 a program of athletic events will take place, and at 2:30 the McElwain All-Stars of Manchester will make their second appearance here this season for a tussle with Hank Qualters' locals.

A double exhibition by the McElwain girls' drill team is also scheduled for the afternoon. Novel attractions are promised in the midway, including Madame Bazibbo, fortune teller. Three movie shows are on the program, a matinee at 2:30 and evening at 7 and 9. The picture, Deanna Durbin in "Mad About Music."

Ridge Association

The annual meeting of the Rustic Ridge association will be held at the residence of Mrs. Holloway on the second ridge, near North Lane at 3 o'clock, Tuesday, Aug. 23. All members are urged to attend, as important business will be transacted.

HOW THE MODERN POLITICAL CANDIDATE WORKS

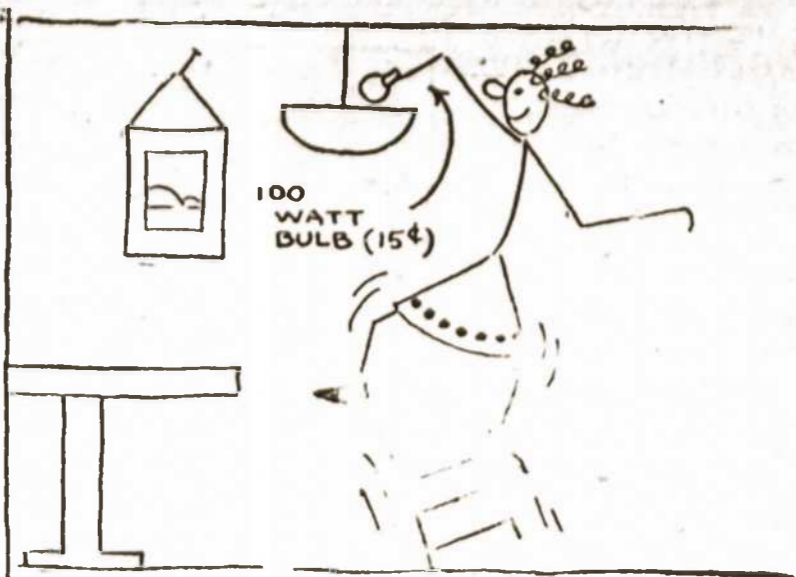

Success in a political campaign these days calls for the use of every modern convenience for speed and effectiveness.

Here we have Richard Whitcomb, of Springfield, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, meeting his dynamic needs as he goes through the campaign.

With a dictaphone installed in his car, he dictates his speeches in advance, his intimate reports on conferences, and directions for his campaign workers at headquarters, while he is driven about from rally to rally throughout the state.

The wax cylinders are rushed to his secretary, who, in turn, transcribes them and sees that their messages reach the proper department or individual.

Mrs. S--- is extremely wise. She's going to save her precious eyes. Just 15 pennies is the new low price! Of 100-watt bulbs that light so nice!

EDITORIAL

Homer Martin who lives off the fat of dues which he extracts from labor, wants Henry Ford to debate him about company unions, et cetera.

But it seems Mr. Ford is so busy trying to provide work for the many thousands of his employees that he hasn't time, nor likely the inclination, to waste his breath on a wind-jammer who lives off labor and does not create it.

Those two Roosevelts — the President of the United States and the head of the Democratic party, must have had a lot of fun playing hide-and-seek with each other on their recent trip together, especially on that fishing trip when a battleship was used as a "dory."

A hurried survey made of business conditions in Northfield, by a small group of citizens, reveals that the best business asset which the town possesses is the summer visitor and his "trade." The greatest number of residents who have come here, to make the community, who now own homes and reside here for all or a portion of the year, have come because they were influenced by its summer advantages, its schools and its conferences. The survey may be further carried on to establish certain facts and figures. Let's encourage the summer visitor, it's our business asset.

Know Massachusetts Compiled by State Planning Board

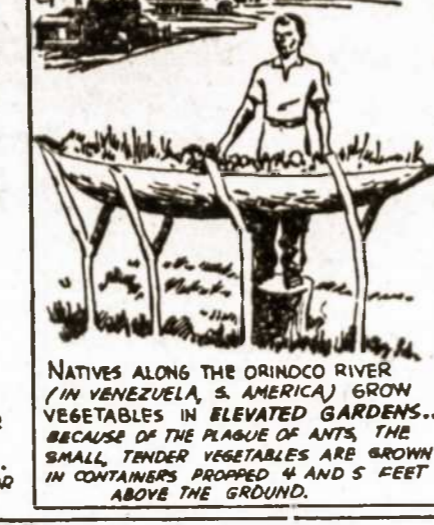

Do you know that . . . The British government owns a piece of land in Massachusetts, a plot containing 13 graves of British soldiers at Concord bridge, who were killed in the famous battle in 1775 . . . Paul Revere made silver dental plates which he advertised as "of real use in speaking and eating" . . . The Wilbur theatre in Boston was one of the first auditoriums to be designed with a scientific knowledge of acoustics . . . The Massachusetts State Police were originally an enforcement unit under the Constable of the Commonwealth, organized for the suppression of gambling and vice and the regulation of liquor shops . . . The General Court of Massachusetts in 1639 exempted all ship carpenters and fishermen (during fishing season) from compulsory military training . . . A possible fore-runner of prefabricated houses may have been the "houses ready framed" exported to the West Indies in 1676 . . . Billiard tables formed an article of commerce between Boston and southern settlements in 1721 . . . Massachusetts staves and hoops were important articles of export to the West Indies sugar trade in the early days . . . What we now know as washable prints were described in an advertisement in the Boston Gazette, June 1735, as "Prints all sorts of Callicoes of several Colours to hold Washing" . . . The first rattan factory in the world was established in Wakefield by the man for whom the town was named, Cyrus Wakefield . . . Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross, was born in Auburn . . . Proceedings of the recent Planning conference held at Mass. Mrs. Jones: Tommy, turn off that loud speaker.
Tommy: That isn't the radio, Mother. That's Mrs. Smith come to see you.

"Perhaps," said the judge, "counsel for the defense would like to explain the meaning of the expression, 'Sez you'."

Counsel rose.
"My lad," he said, "it would appear that it is a slang of American origin which has gained regrettable currency in the language of the people through the agency of the cinema. I am given to understand, employ-ees to indicate a state of dubiety as to the credibility or veracity of a statement made by the speaker."
"Oh, yeah!" observed the judge.

Two gangsters were escorting a member of a rival gang across a field on a dark rainy night.
"What rats you are," grumbled the doomed one, "making me walk through a rain like this."
"How about us?" growled one of the escorts. "We've got to walk back."

A beggar approached him, asking for a dollar.
Victim: Seems to me you have pretty big ideas in asking for a dollar.

Beggar: Well, sir, I'm putting all my begs in one askit.

A very nice old lady had a few words to say to her granddaugh-

NOTICE!
Don't dig your grave with your teeth! That is exactly what you are doing when you eat ancient, cold storage meat. M. F. Lopez can supply you with the very best local freshly killed to order barred rock poultry obtainable.
It costs no more so why rush the undertaker! Fresh pullets eggs always at hand.
